BEVERLY STEIN BECOMES BRIDE OF LIONEL GROBERMAN

The marriage of Beverly Faith, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saul Stein, to Lionel Groberman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Groberman, of Calgary, was solemnized at 6:30 p.m., November 16, on the mezzanine floor of the Royal Alexandra Hotel. Rabbi H. Herson officiated, assisted by Morris Cohen. Mr. Cohen was also soloist. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Cohen and Dr. Louis Sotolow.

Miss Hope Oretsky was maid of honor, with Miss Gladys Waldman and Miss Esther Green as bridesmaids. Herbert Groberman, of Calgary, was best man for his brother. Ushering the guests were Lawrence Green, of Seattle, Martin Weidman, Mervin Mindes, Dr. H. Yaffa, Michael Schaeffer, Samuel Vinberg, Samuel Wolfe and Julius Wolfe.

The bride wore a gown of blue satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline pleated at the base. The sleeves were lily pointed over her hands. The flared skirt, featuring a padded hipline, ended in a train. Panels of silver thread bugle bead and rhinestone embroidery marked either side of centre pleats. A coronet of satin, in matching embroidery, held her veil of ice blue illusion. She carried a cascade of white orchids and feathered white carnations.

The reception was held in the Colonial ballroom, followed by a dinner dance. Mr. and Mrs. Groberman left by motor for an extended trip in the United States. They will make their home in Calgary.

The bride is a 1949 graduate in the faculty of interior design, University of Manitoba. Mr. Groberman is a graduate in commerce, University of British Columbia.

The marriage of Nena Trepel to Leo Silver of Vienna took place Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 6 p.m., in the Gold Room of the Royal Alexandra hotel. Rabbi H. Herson officiated, assisted by Cantor M. Feldman. The wedding music was played by Irwin Plumm. Kerr Wilson was soloist.

The bride, given away by her brother, Elia Trepel, wore a gown of imported lace and satin. The basque yoke was outlined in seed pearls, and the lace bishop sleeves were full and banded at the wrists. Her skirt was of lace banded in satin. The headdress was a coronet of satin and veil was of silk illusion. Freda Trepel was her aunt's only attendant. Following the ceremony, a dinner and dance for the immediate family was held in the Colonial Room. Irwin Plumm's orchestra provided the music throughout.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to eastern Canada and on their return will reside in Winnipeg.

officiated, assisted by Cantor Myer Feldman. A string trio was in attendance and Mrs. Harry Riesenberg sang "I Love Thee" and "Through The Years."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white Chantilly lace over slipper satin. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline with Queen Anne collar and long lily-point sleeves. The skirt was caught up in an apron drape falling into a double tier at the back. She wore a fingertip veil of French illusion, and carried an ivory bible set into a lace fan and overlaid with a orchid, feathered carnations, and ivy.

Miss Dorene Cohen, maid of honor was gowned in a cinnamon lace redingote over aqua taffeta, featuring a standup collar and cap sleeves. Her headdress was a braided coronet of lace taffeta and pearls, and she carried a matching heart-shape fan overlaid with yellow roses.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Pat Mednick, Becky Kaminsky, and Ethel Malcin. They wore cinnamon net over aqua taffeta styled with low necklines and bouffant skirts. Their headresses were matching coronets and they carried yellow mums against a background of glittered magnolia leaves. Elaine Levi, flower girl, wore aqua taffeta fashioned with a square neckline and hooped skirt. She carried a miniature fan, inset with yellow sweetheart roses.

Mrs. S. Kay, mother of the bride, wore a gown of taupe crepe, the bodice and neckline inset with lace. Her hat was of taupe, featuring a sidespout of veiling. She carried a spray of orchids.

Mrs. F. Davis, sister of the groom, wore grey taffeta with a net overskirt. Her accessories were pink, and her corsage was of sweetheart roses.

Frank Davis was best man. Ushers were Sol Katz, Nate Ratson, Zack Kay, Jack Kay, and Harry Riesen-
